Student Engagement
Dillard has established a range of academic, social and religious activities on campus. From campus ministries and student governments to honor societies, Greek life and other student organizations, Dillard University has an organization to enhance the campus experience for every student. The university’s campus also features the Office of Health and Wellness, as well as the Dillard University Bookstore to meet students’ health and academic needs.

Honors Program
The motto of the Daniel C. Thompson Summit Dillard Houze Honors Program is “Nurture scholastic and civic discourse.” "Learn not for school, but for life.” The majority of students in the Honors Program are admitted at the beginning of their first year at Dillard University. The selection process and criteria for entering University Scholars are established by the Office of Recruitment, Admissions and Programming, and are as follows: a score of 27 on the ACT or 1220 on the SAT, and a 3.8 cumulative high school GPA on a 4.0 scale. Since the inception of the Honors Program in 1978, University Scholars have been in close care.

Center for First Year Experience
The First Year Seminar is a structured, year-long experience designed to assist new students in making a smooth transition to college life. The expectation is that students be exposed to a wide range of experiences offered in the program for a year. Each Freshman Seminar also serves as an introduction for students who will enter as Scholars in academic, social, leadership, and spiritual areas and the spirit and character of Dillard University. Classes and mentoring sessions involve the encouragement of academic and career skills, problem solving, stress management, and study strategies.

Student Support Services
The goal of the student support services programs is to provide academic, counseling, and vocational supports to promote academic success.
