

The 2012 Presidential Election has many people both anxious and excited. For Dillard University senior Jakarah Porter, the excitement of this election has waned.

Read more about her and other college students' response to this election...

---