

Dillard University will host an important conference on youth and the state of mental health in New Orleans, on Tuesday, November 20, 2012.

A recent study conducted by the Institute of Women and Ethnic Studies on the mental health issues of New Orleans youth shows an alarming trend. Unless solutions are found to reverse these trends, the social fabric of the city will continue to deteriorate.

Read more about the conference on WWLTV.com...