

Dillard University was recognized by HuffingtonPost media for being one of several HBCUs giving back to the community during the holidays. Toy drives by students and staff helped local children have a happier Christmas in New Orleans. Recipients included Ronald McDonald House and Joseph Craig Elementary School.

Read more here...