

Writer Sarah Carr in her new book, "Hope Against Hope: Three Schools, One City, and the Struggle to Educate America's Children", mentions Dillard University which welcomes students from various financial backgrounds. A young New Orleans resident and future college attendee visits Fair Dillard as a potential college choice.

Read more about the book on jsonline.com...