

Dillard alumnus Evan Cleaver has got some serious moves. The former basketball player and theater major recently landed a part in the new Stephanie Meyer film, "The Host" which opens on Friday, March 29, 2013. Evan was a star point guard at Center High School and earned a scholarship to Dillard University in New Orleans. He became the first student on a basketball scholarship to graduate with a degree in acting.

Read more about Evan on kansascity.com...