

---

More than 50% of the US population lives within an urban center and within 150 kilometers of coastal waters. The numbers are expected to rise sharply by 2030 to approximately two-thirds.