

Dillard University's picturesque campus is located in the heart of the Gentilly neighborhood of New Orleans. The university's campus setting strives to create an academic climate conducive to the pursuit of scholarship and the development of character.

To achieve this atmosphere, Dillard has established a range of academic, social and religious societies on campus. From campus ministries and student government, to honor societies and university organizations, Dillard University has an organization to expand the campus experience of every student. The university's campus also features an outpatient clinic, the Office of Health and Wellness, as well as the Dillard University Bookstore to meet student's health and academic needs.
