

South Central Construction magazine introduces its first Top Owner of the Year, Dillard University of New Orleans. The university was selected from numerous nominated owners based on its work volume, commitment to the community, innovation/vision, sustainability initiatives and reputation. Following Katrina, Dillard doggedly pursued sustainable design after it was tasked with the nearly total reconstruction of the university's campus.

Read more...