Hello Dr. Page,

There are no fees associated with membership in the AWS Academy program. The only cost associated with the program is the cost of the AWS certifications. We provide our members with discount vouchers to cut the cost of the AWS certification exam in half (50% discount). The cost of the certification exam is paid directly to our 3rd party test vendor, Pearson Vue or PSI. As part of participation in the AWS Academy program, every educator must have the AWS certification that aligns to the AWS Academy course he or she will be teaching. Certification for students is optional (up to each institution to decide if students will be required to sit for cert).

AWS Educate is a different program. I can connect you with the AWS Educate Program Manager to answer any questions you have about that program.

Warm regards,

~Angel

Introduction

AWS Academy is a global program that provides educational Institutions and educational non-profits (collectively, "Institutions") with access to an AWS-developed and authorized curriculum so they can more easily offer cloud computing courses to their students. By participating in AWS Academy, Institutions can help students become proficient and certified on the use of Amazon Web Services (AWS) technology.

Application to AWS Academy is open to Institutions that are accredited or have received official validation from a government or established educational authority as determined by AWS. To be considered for membership in AWS Academy, your institution must also meet the requirements of the program and be approved by AWS.

This Program Guide provides an overview of AWS Academy, including curriculum, program benefits, requirements, and information about how to participate. Besides the Program Guide, please read the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions, which govern your participation in the program.
AWS Academy courses are developed and maintained by AWS. Each learning path within the AWS Academy curriculum addresses different subject areas. AWS Academy courses are packaged in a modular format that may be delivered to students as synchronous or asynchronous learning in either an educator-led or virtual classroom environment.

Each learning path is designed to prepare students for an AWS certification. Students are provided with access to free certification practice exams and discounted certification exams that are aligned to the course. AWS Academy courses must be delivered by accredited educators who have completed the AWS educator accreditation requirements for each course they teach.

Requirements for Delivery
Institutions and AWS Academy accredited educators must:
- Comply with the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions and all requirements described in the AWS Academy Program Guide;
- Be approved by AWS for each AWS Academy authorized course they intend to deliver to students;
- Deliver AWS Academy authorized courses only to students enrolled at the Institution;
- Deliver AWS Academy authorized courses in its entirety (for time or other considerations, a course may be truncated into segments, as long as all segments are delivered);
- Deliver AWS Academy authorized courses over a minimum period of weeks specified in the course outline;
- Keep AWS authorized courses updated with most recent version of the provided courseware;
- Deliver AWS Academy courses to students as synchronous (i.e. real time) or asynchronous learning in either an educator-led or virtual classroom environment;
- Meet the following requirements when delivering AWS Academy courses asynchronously:
  - Institutions are permitted to integrate the AWS Academy courseware into their Learning Management System (LMS). All guidelines for content usage as defined in the Ts&Cs must be strictly adhered to.
  - Students need to register for an AWS Training and Certification account and educators will be provided with a link to the course. All procedures for class creation as used for on-the-ground (synchronous) classes need to be followed.
AWS Academy Membership

As an AWS Academy member, your institution has access to AWS Academy authorized courses that can be delivered to students by AWS Academy accredited educators.

This includes ensuring that educators are updated with relevant program updates that AWS provides to the CPOC;
- Receive written AWS approval for each AWS Academy authorized course you intend to deliver;
- Have one AWS-accredited educator for each AWS Academy course that you deliver;
- Agree not to provide third-party organizations with access to AWS Academy courses or other program components. For example, you may not use Program benefits to provide fee-for-service training to any individual, institution, or entity not currently enrolled in AWS Academy classes at your institution as a bona fide student;

Ensure that students who access AWS Academy content create an AWS Training & Certification account, as set forth in the Student GuideAWS will review each member institution annually to determine whether it continues to meet program compliance requirements. AWS reserves the right to terminate the membership of AWS Academy Institutions that do not meet the requirements set forth in the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions and Program Guide.

Hello Dr. Page,

There are no fees associated with membership in the AWS Academy program. The only cost associated with the program is the cost of the AWS certifications. We provide our members with discount vouchers to cut the cost of the AWS certification exam in half (50% discount). The cost of the certification exam is paid directly to our 3rd party test vendor, Pearson Vue or PSI. As part of participation in the AWS Academy program, every educator must have the AWS certification that aligns to the AWS Academy course he or she will be teaching. Certification for students is optional (up to each institution to decide if students will be required to sit for cert).

AWS Educate is a different program. I can connect you with the AWS Educate Program Manager to answer any questions you have about that program.

Warm regards,

Angel

Introduction

AWS Academy is a global program that provides educational institutions and educational non-profits (collectively, “institutions”) with access to an AWS-developed and authorized curriculum so they can more easily offer cloud computing courses to their students. By participating in AWS Academy, institutions can help students become proficient and certified on the use of Amazon Web Services (AWS) technology.

Application to AWS Academy is open to institutions that are accredited or have received official validation from a government or established educational authority as determined by AWS. To be considered for membership in AWS Academy, your institution must also meet the requirements of the program and be approved by AWS.

This Program Guide provides an overview of AWS Academy, including curriculum, program benefits, requirements, and information about how to participate. Besides the Program Guide, please read the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions, which govern your participation in the program.
AWS Academy courses are developed and maintained by AWS. Each learning path within the AWS Academy curriculum addresses different subject areas. AWS Academy courses are packaged in a modular format that may be delivered to students as synchronous or asynchronous learning in either an educator-led or virtual classroom environment.

Each learning path is designed to prepare students for an AWS certification. Students are provided with access to free certification practice exams and discounted certification exams that are aligned to the course. AWS Academy courses must be delivered by accredited educators who have completed the AWS educator accreditation requirements for each course they teach.

Requirements for Delivery

Institutions and AWS Academy accredited educators must:

- Comply with the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions and all requirements described in the AWS Academy Program Guide;
- Be approved by AWS for each AWS Academy authorized course they intend to deliver to students;
- Deliver AWS Academy authorized courses only to students enrolled at the institution;
- Deliver AWS Academy authorized courses in its entirety (for time or other considerations, a course may be truncated into segments, as long as all segments are delivered);
- Deliver AWS Academy authorized courses over a minimum period of weeks specified in the course outline;
- Keep AWS authorized courses updated with most recent version of the provided courseware;
- Deliver AWS Academy courses to students as synchronous (i.e. real time) or asynchronous learning in either an educator-led or virtual classroom environment;
- Meet the following requirements when delivering AWS Academy courses asynchronously:
  - Institutions are permitted to integrate the AWS Academy courseware into their Learning Management System (LMS). All guidelines for content usage as defined in the Ts&Cs must be strictly adhered to.
  - Students need to register for an AWS Training and Certification account and educators will be provided with a link to the course. All procedures for class creation as used for on-the-ground (synchronous) classes need to be followed.
As an AWS Academy member, your institution has access to AWS Academy authorized courses that can be delivered to students by AWS Academy accredited educators.

Benefits for Member Institutions
AWS Academy members receive a number of benefits that are solely for use by institutions, educators and students participating in AWS Academy, including:

- Access to complete AWS-developed and authorized courses;
- Course updates that reflect new AWS releases and best practices;
- Listing in the AWS Academy directory of participating institutions on the AWS Academy website upon acceptance;
- Access to AWS Academy logos and branding and must be in adherence with the PR guidelines;
- Access to free practice exams and discounted certification exams for AWS Academy accredited educators and AWS Academy students within their institution;
- Invitation to AWS Academy events, such as AWS Academy conferences and webinars. Your regional AWS Academy Program Manager will notify you when opportunities to participate are available.

Requirements for Institutions
To participate in AWS Academy, institutions must:

- Agree to the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions and all requirements described in the AWS Academy Program Guide;
- Use AWS Academy logos and branding as per the below Marketing Guidelines;
- Administer and deliver AWS Academy authorized courses only from AWS-approved countries (Please review the AWS Academy website for list of approved countries);
- Appoint an institutional Central Point of Contact (CPOC) responsible for overseeing all AWS Academy program requirements and activities within the educational institution and the institution’s communications with AWS. This includes ensuring that educators are updated with relevant program updates that AWS provides to the CPOC;
- Receive written AWS approval for each AWS Academy authorized course you intend to deliver;
- Have one AWS-accredited educator for each AWS Academy course that you deliver;
- Agree not to provide third-party organizations with access to AWS Academy courses or other program components. For example, you may not use AWS Academy courses to provide fee-for-service training to any individual, institution, or entity not currently enrolled in AWS Academy classes at your institution as a bona fide student;
- Ensure at least 75% of students in each class complete a course evaluation. The evaluation, provided by AWS through a survey software platform, will help assess student satisfaction with AWS Academy content and delivery.

Ensure that students who access AWS Academy content create an AWS Training & Certification account, as set forth in the Student Guide. AWS will review each member institution annually to determine whether it continues to meet program compliance requirements. AWS reserves the right to terminate the membership of AWS Academy institutions that do not meet the requirements set forth in the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions and Program Guide.

Upon termination of an institution's participation in AWS Academy as set forth in the AWS Academy Terms & Conditions, the institution must cease all activity related to participation in AWS Academy, including:

- Identifying the institution as a participant in AWS Academy;
- Removing the AWS Academy logo from all the institution's websites and marketing materials;
- Discontinuing all uses of AWS Academy program benefits.
